BRITISH STEAMER ORCONA SUNK

Lima, Peru, April 24.—A German steamship has been sunk near Bayovar by the British steamer Orcona, according to a dispatch to the Press. Friday night. It is also stated that the British cruisers Kent and Orama have received word from the British steamer Eagleford at the port of Bayovar.

The latest report received from the Orcona was that she had arrived in Liverpool, February 18, from Valparaiso. It is possible that since then she has been armed and sent back to South American waters.

I am placed like so many other Americans. Here I can support my family with comparative ease, but to give my property away, as I would have to do if I left now, and then try to make a living in the states, would be practically impossible.

The latter stated that the funeral was attended by nearly everybody in the foreign colony.

Would Strike Soninlaw Whom He Finds Wearing His Socks and Cravat

New York, April 24.—Edward N. Breitung, capitalist, was called to the stand when he testified for the defense in the trial of his son-in-law, Max Frederick Kleist, a coachman, for the alleged murder of his daughter Juliet's affections, was resumed in the United States district court today.

Mr. Breitung's testimony, a resume of that given at the first hearing of the suit which ended in a mistrial, was that he was disposed only to act in Kleist's interest from the start and was willing to help him. On cross examination, however, Mr. Breitung admitted that on one occasion he was going to strike and kick Kleist, but Juliet intervened.

Mr. Breitung said Kleist was wearing "my socks, cravat and scarf."

"Why were you going to strike him?" the witness was asked.

"Because he made a slighting remark about my daughter."

Kleist protested, the witness said, that socks, cravat and scarf were given him by Juliet.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 24.—Counsel for Wm. Barnes, in his suit for alleged libel against Theodore Roosevelt, took advantage of the week-end recess of the supreme court, to compile a few additional questions to put to the former president when his cross examination is resumed on Monday.

The Roosevelt attorneys received information that all members of the legislature who voted against the Hughes direct primary bill and other measures cited by Col. By these witnesses the plaintiff, it is said, hopes to prove that their action was voluntary and that they were not forced into alliance by party leaders.

The Christiansia, Norway, correspondent of the Reuters Telegram company, says Germany has responded to the Norwegian government saying it is unconvinced that the Norwegian steamer Belbridge was sunk by a German torpedo.

Germany states, however, that if further investigation prove that it was a German torpedo, the German government will be ready to express its regret, or if the two governments fail to agree on the subject, Germany is willing to submit the case to a commission of inquiry under the rules of the Hague convention.

THAW WAKES TO FIND HE IS AGAIN CHICKENMATED

New York, April 24.—Harry K. Thaw, who went to sleep in the Tombs prison Friday night elated by his belief that he had won his long fight for a jury trial to test his sanity, awoke today to learn that he must await a decision of the appellate division of the supreme court before his hearing could be granted.

This new check in the attempt to obtain his freedom from the Matteawan asylum, to which Justice Page had ordered him returned, was due to the announcement by attorney general Woodbury that the state would make application to the appellate division for a writ of prohibition against the order for a jury trial granted Friday by Justice Hendrick.

The hearing before a jury had been set for May 17, but it was considered likely that it would be postponed by the state's appeal.
